Guffey Warner & Associates, Inc is a civil engineering and surveying firm that recognized the need to pinpoint the locations of failing sanitary sewer and storm sewer lines for our client's limited municipal funding. We started Guffey Warner Inspections to assist service authorities to find the most critical locations to repair. It has been a valuable tool in prioritizing lines that need to be replaced quickly. The work has been a natural extension of our design and surveying capabilities. We can inspect the lines through the NASSCO standards and analyze the data from an engineer's perspective.

We are at a point in our country where most of the pipe in the ground today is at or has exceeded its design life expectancy. Having NASSCO lead the way in developing inspection standards and providing professional reporting standards has come at a perfect time. The cooperation between the TV inspection crews, the engineers, contractors, municipalities, and policy makers is going to be more crucial now than ever before. We are excited to be a key part of the process.
